Teresa Pelkie

Teresa began her career in the social services after receiving her MA in Family Counseling. She later became interested in computer technologies and began taking computer classes, ultimately shifting career paths. She started a Web Development business and later began teaching part time. She obtained a MS in Instructional Design and Technology to support her role as an educator.

Teresa teaches CSIS 135 JavaScript Programming and CSIS 276 Introduction to SQL at Grossmont. She has also taught at UCSD Extension, Webster University, Palomar College, MiraCosta College, Cuyamaca College, and Mesa College.

Teresa lives with her husband and their three rescue dogs, who keep their life full of joy and energy. She maintains a healthy lifestyle and makes fitness a priority. Running is one of her favorite activities. She has participated in many local races throughout the years, and has completed 50 Half Marathons.